SFCC Winter Choral Concert Showcases Local Talent

Santa Fe, NM – Witness the seasonal sounds of talented student choristers at Santa Fe Community College's Winter Choral Concert, held at 3 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 5, inside the Jemez Rooms on the SFCC campus, 6401 Richards Ave.

The afternoon features performances by current chorus and chamber students singing traditional carols, popular Christmas songs and classical vocal arrangements. Singers are accompanied by pianists Virginia Westray and William Epstein, and directed by music educator and SFCC instructor Dr. Priscilla Zimmermann. The performances are the culmination of a semester's worth of class work and rehearsals. The choral program is part of SFCC's School of Arts and Design.

“The SFCC choral program provides an educational experience to students by offering them a chance to study and perform vocal music from various styles and historical periods,” said Zimmermann.

“We invite anyone who is eager to sing music of diverse styles, willing to commit to regular rehearsal attendance, and inspired to improve the quality of the group and their own singing, to join chorus for the 2010 spring semester.”

The concert is free and open to the public. For more information, call (505) 428-1731.
